

Greetings from the President of Iceland

The voices of young people joined together in song and music give us a unifying force across continents and oceans, bringing harmony to every home and all people.

Now the magnificent choir from Öldutínsskóli is journeying from Iceland to China, inspired by the joy of singing and the symphony of colours and light in the North. They hope to show their hosts and audiences in the East how the world of culture and the arts makes us all friends and companions.

I treasure beautiful memories of my travels in China and I hope the gifted young representatives of my country can, through their wonderful singing, encourage the talented people of China to come and visit us in Iceland.
